Hart, Binghamton Lawyer, Indicted in Liquor Conspiracy

Former Federal Prohibition Director Heads List of Score of Defendants

False Permits

Hart Accused of Approving Release of Great Quantities of Liquor to "Drug" Companies

New York, Jan. 4.—A bomb shell was exploded today in New York's federal prohibition headquarters.

Cracking of the seals on a secret indictment returned some weeks ago by the federal grand jury investigating enforcement of the Volstead act in this city revealed the fact that Harold L. Hart, a prominent Binghamton attorney, who formerly served as federal prohibition director for the state of New York, headed a list of a score of defendants charged with conspiracy to defraud the government through liquor withdrawls.

Immediately public attention, which has been focused on poison liquor consumed during the holidays, which today claimed its nineteenth victim, switched to the flood of real alcoholics which were alleged to have been loosened through putative fake drug concerns.

Indicted with Hart were two other high enforcement officials, three politicians and a number of the "drug" concerns and their officers. The list of defendants included:

List of Defendants.

Thomas Reddy, formerly allied with the post office department and the department of justice, and who later served as Hart's assistant before the latter's resignation last fall.

Michael J. Lynch, a clerk in Hart's office, with a key to the cabinet containing the serially numbered withdrawal permits.

William A. Orr, private secretary to Charles S. Whitman when the latter occupied the gubernatorial chair and now engaged in the insurance business.

Owen D. Murphy, treasurer of the Bronx County Democratic committee.

Thomas F. Duffy, Bronx politician.

The following "drug" concerns and their officers: Central Drug company, S. & E. Drug Specialties company, Alps Drug company, Reliance Distributing company, Herman Levin, Max Gordon, Barney Frauston, Louis Billoon, John Gorini, Charles J. Steinberg, Bonfiglio Venusti, John A. Penna, Nathan Feld and Arthur Kraus.

The indictments, returned after an investigation of several months conducted by Assistant United States Attorney Maxwell S. Mattnek, followed complaints of lax enforcement of the Volstead act and frequent shifts in federal prohibition headquarters.

Issued False Permits.

When Federal Judge Knox this afternoon ordered the seals broken, it was found that the defendants had been charged with defrauding the government by issuing false and fraudulent withdrawal permits, whereby liquor exceeding vastly the amounts allowed by any one defendant for the compounding of drugs had been withdrawn. The offense, alleged to have involved wholesale quantities of liquor, ranks with a felony, and, upon conviction, the defendants would face three-year prison terms.

Orr, Lynch and Duffy appeared before Federal Judge Knox late today and entering tentative pleas of not guilty, were released in $5,000 bail each.

Counsel also entered not guilty pleas for the drug companies indicted. No additional bail was set on these cases, as all were under bail in connection with other charges.

Judge Knox granted a postponement until tomorrow in the arraignment of Reddy, Murphy and former Director Hart.

The indictments followed an investigation of several months, which started with the seizure of a truckload of liquor on the road between Philadelphia and Baltimore, consigned to the Central Drug company. Agents who made the seizure noted that the permit was of the series of 247,000. At that time the legal permit number for Hart's office was 131,000. Hart is alleged to have countersigned the bogus permits.

Hart Makes Denial.

Former Director Hart denied tonight that any bogus liquor permits were signed or approved by him, or that he had any knowledge beforehand that they had been issued.

"When my attention was called," he said, "that there had been found in Philadelphia permits bearing the serial number 247,000 I had an inventory of our blank permits made. We found permits 247,001 to 247,300 missing from the cabinet where they were kept. Immediately upon this discovery I wired the commissioner at Washington to put a stop at all distilleries and prohibition directors' offices against withdrawals bearing those serial numbers.

"Pursuant to that request made by me, the commissioner did put such a stop on and as a result thereof, practically all of the liquor covered by those permits was stopped before it ever reached the consignee."

VALERA OFFERS HIS PROPOSALS

Hopes to Move Them as Amendment to Resolution Approving the Treaty

RECOGNIZES KING

But Plan Asserts Sole Source of Authority in Ireland Rests With Irish People

(By The Associated Press).

Dublin, Jan. 4.—Eamonn DeValera, when the Dail Eireann met this evening, produced for the first time publicly his alternative proposals to the Irish treaty. A fortnight ago he was asked by Arthur Griffith to publish them and Mr. Griffith repeated his challenge at today's debate.

Mr. DeValera's original idea, as announced by himself, was to move his alternate proposals in the event of rejection of the treaty. But he changed his mind, and now intends, if he is permitted, to move them as an amendment to the resolution approving the treaty.

The document, whose secrecy has been carefully guarded, except for obscure hints by Dail members who saw it in the private sessions, was issued to the press, accompanied by an appeal by Mr. DeValera in a manifesto addressed to the Irish people urging them not to be stampeded to the support of the treaty, which would not bring peace.

Irish People Sole Authority.

The document as issued differs, according to Mr. Griffith, from the document submitted in the private sessions of the Dail Eireann. It follows the main outline of the treaty made at the Downing Street residence of the British prime minister and signed by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, and the other plenipotentiaries, but implies, Mr. DeValera contends, a fundamental difference in principle. It asserts that the sole source of authority in Ireland rest with the Irish people, while by the treaty, it is argued, it is derived through the king.

Mr. DeValera's plan contains no oath of allegiance but admits recognition of His Brittanic Majesty as head of the association of states in the British commonwealth, with which Ireland externally associates itself.

The debate today revealed the presence of at least three parties in the Dail Eireann—the supporters of the treaty made in London, the supporters of Mr. DeValera and his alternative proposals, and some active Republicans opposed to both sets of proposals. Vigorous speeches were made for and against the treaty but at the conclusion of the session there was no indication of any change in the sentiment of the members, and best informed opinion continues to incline to the belief that the treaty will be approved by a small majority.

Heated Controversy.

When the motion for adjournment was made tonight, Mr. DeValera's announcement that he would move tomorrow as an amendment to Mr. Griffith's motion in favor of the treaty his own alternative proposals, gave rise immediately to a heated controversy. Mr. Griffith, who, like the other members, had received a copy of the proposals, said: "Are we to consider this a new document, or document No. 2?" referring to the DeValera plan to which frequent reference has been made in the debate.

DeValera jumped up and said: "You are quibbling."

Griffith retorted, "Document No. 2 consisted of 25 clauses; this new document consists of 17. six clauses are omitted."

Further controversy then arose regarding whether Mr. DeValera's proposals could be moved as an amendment at all, as they have been described on the agenda paper as a separate motion.

Summary of DeValera Proposals.

Dublin, Jan. 4. — The Sinn Fein publicity department, immediately after adjournment of the Dail Eireann late this afternoon, issued a long manifesto to the Irish people in the name of Eamonn DeValera, accompanied by his alternative proposals to replace the Anglo-Irish treaty, now being considered by the Dail.

The text of the most important provisions of the proposals follows:

Status of Ireland:

That the legislative, executive and judicial authority of Ireland shall be derived solely from the people of Ireland.

Terms of Association:

That for the purposes of common concern, Ireland shall be associated with the states of the British commonwealth, namely the Kingdom of Great Britain, the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand and the Union of South Africa.

That when acting as an associate, the rights, status and privileges of Ireland shall in no respect be less than those enjoyed by any other component states of the British commonwealth; that the matters of common concern shall include defense, peace, war, political treaties, and all matters now treated as of common concern among the states of the British commonwealth, and that in these matters there shall be between Ireland and the states of the British commonwealth such concerted action founded on consultation as the several governments may determine.

That in virtue of this association of Ireland with the states of the British commonwealth the citizens of Ireland in any of the states shall not be subject to any disability which a citizen of one of the component states of the British commonwealth should not be subject to, and reciprocally for the citizens of the states in Ireland.

That for the purposes of the association, Ireland shall recognize His Brittanic Majesty as head of the association.

That so far as her resources permit, Ireland shall provide for her own defense by sea, land and air; shall repel by force any attempt by a foreign power to violate the integrity of her soil and territorial waters, or to use them for any purpose hostile to Great Britain and the other associated states.

Other Particulars of Plan.

The document sets forth in detail, in somewhat similar terms to the Downing Street treaty, the particulars regarding coastal defense, with a list of harbor facilities and an agreement to build no submarines except by the consent of the British commonwealth of states; make a convention for the regulation of civil communication by air, assume an arbitrated share of the British debt and war pensions, agree to endow no religion, arrange for the election of a provisional government, and for ratification.

An annex names Bereshaven, Queenstown, Belfast and Lough Swilly as harbors remaining in British care, with facilities for coastal defense by air.

A resolution added to the document expresses willingness to grant the northeast six counties privileges and safeguards "not less substantial than those provided for" in the document signed at London on December 6.

GOVERNOR SPROUL WON'T ASSUME PENROSE SEAT

Philadelphia, Jan. 4. — Governor William C. Sproul tonight announced that h would not resign to take the senatorship made vacant by the death of Senator Boies Penrose.

"If I should ever desire to go to the United States senate," said the Governor, "I shall submit my candidacy to the people of the state in the regular way—through the process of nomination and election."

PAPER MAKERS' PAY DISPUTE SETTLED

Agreement Means Less Wages for Unskilled Workmen of Independent Plants

New York, Jan. 4. — Settlement of the wage dispute between eleven large independent paper manufacturing companies and their employes was announced late today by the board of arbitration named to pass on the company's proposal for a 25 per cent. reduction.

F. L. Carlyle, president of the St. Regis Paper company, and a member of the arbitration board, said the terms of the agreement meant an eight cent an hour decrease for about 10,000 unskilled workmen, but there would be no change in the wages of some 5,000 skilled workers.

The new scale for unskilled workers, he said, will be 32 cents an hour, while the skilled men will get 54 cents and upward.

The agreement is effective January 9, and will remain in force until May 1, he said.

On the final ballot, the three representatives of the manufacturers voted in favor of the reductions and the labor representatives unanimously against them, the deciding vote being that of Judge Frank Irvine of Ithaca, as final arbiter.

BANDITS GET $40,000 IN SILK, ONLY TO LOSE IT

New York, Jan. 4.—A daylight holdup and theft of an automobile truck containing $40,000 worth of silk was reported by the police late today, after the truck and it contents had been recovered.

Charles Fritz, driver of the truck, told the police that he and his two assistants had been held up by motor bandits in the Bronx, bundled into the robbers' car, and take to a woods near Van Cortlandt park, where they were ordered to "walk north" under pain of being shot.

Circuling through the woods, they returned to the city and notified a policeman. The truck was found in a garage where it had been placed in dead storage.

ONE ELECTION CONTEST.

Albany, Jan. 4.—The judiciary committee of the assembly, to be appointed next week by Speaker Machold, will have one election contest to decide. The right of Assemblyman Edmund H. Alexander, Republican, to represent the second district of Kings county, has been questioned by William Brown, defeated Democratic candidate, who today filed with the assembly formal notice of a contest.

BANGS' CONDITION GRAVE.

Atlantic City, Jan. 4. — The condition of John Kendrick Bangs, author and lecturer, operated upon Saturday for intestinal trouble, is exceedingly grave, his physician, Dr. W. B. Blair Stewart reported tonight. Dr. Stewart said that Mr. Bangs was slowly losing his vitality and failing to respond to treatment as he should.

BURY PENROSE TODAY.

Philadelphia, Jan. 4. — Permit for the burial tomorrow of Boies Penrose, late United States senator from Pennsylvania, was issued today by the bureau of vital statistics. No announcement of the hour or other arrangements for the services were made by members of the family.

OPIE DENIES HE SHOT OWN MEN

Accuser and Accused, in Dramatic Fashion, Face Each Other Before Senate Committee

TAKES STAND TODAY

Major Opie Will Seek to Disprove Stories of Ex-Soldiers Concerning His Conduct

Washington, Jan. 4.—Accuser and accused, in dramatic fashion, faced each other today before a senate committee investigating charges that American soldiers had been hanged without trial in France.

Near the close of a seven-hour session, Major H. L. Opie of Staunton, Va., commander of the third battalion, 116th infantry, overseas, went to the stand to enter emphatic denial of charges by former service men that he had shot down some of his own soldiers in cold blood on the battlefields. He was asked, however, to step aside until other witnesses, then in the room, could testify against him, meanwhile being given the right through council to cross-examine them.

Grayson H. Winthrow of Baltimore, still in his early twenties, testified that he saw Opie seize a gun from a private and fire at a man in his command. Shells were falling overhead, he said, and there was tremendous excitement, but Withrow swore that from his retreat in a shell hole he peeped out and saw the man fall as the major's gun barked. But he could not say whether Opie had killed him, declaring the latter, standing out in the open, was within arm's reach of half a dozen officers when the shot was fired.

Accused of Shooting "Runner."

As Withrow left the stand, William F. St. John, a young man from Lynchburg, Va., suffering from nervous trouble resulting from service overseas, accused the Virginian of shooting down a "runner" at the front because he failed to heed after thrice being ordered to halt. Four other men saw the killing but he refused of his own accord to divulge their names on the ground that he had not been able to confer with them and that it would not be just to him if they should appear and not back up his charges. One of them, he said, had "developed cold feet" and was unwilling to come.

Reminded by Chairman Brandegee that the names must be submitted, St. John complied, mentioning first the cousin of one of Major Opie's counsel, sitting across the table. It was while St. John was being cross-examined by John A. Cutchins of Richmond, Va., Major Opie's counsel, that he lost control of his shattered nerves and dramatically shouted that he was dealing with a bunch of fanatics who "are trying to prove I am nutty." Mr. Cutchins promptly disclaimed such an intention.

Seeing that the young man was worn out by excitement, Senator Watson, Democrat of Georgia, whose charges of illegal executions are under investigation, declined to question him. Tomorrow Major Opie will testify in his own behalf.

Georgia Farmer Testifies.

Earlier in the day Polk Golden, a young farmer of Newman, Ga., who was living in Arizona when drafted and sent overseas, was questioned concerning a letter he recently wrote Senator Watson to the effect that a soldier was shot by orders of a major because he went to a spring to get a canteen of water. The man, he said, were ordered to remain under cover and a soldier disobeying, started toward the spring and was shot. A battle was raging nearby and guards, he said, were trying to conceal the position of the squad.

"How far was the man out when shot?"

"Fifty yards. He was told to halt and refused. Everybody knew we were not to approach the spring."

Golden testified that he saw an officer shoot a private in the Argonne sector. The man killed, he said, was an Italian from New York.

Golden declared the officer to the best of his knowledge, killed the Italian because he was the last of the platoon and failed to report when the platoon came up. He could not give the officer's name.

Emmett Cochran of Savannah, Ga., read a letter from Colonel William Hayward explaining why he had asked that Cochran be transferred to another command because of the shooting of a private in France.

Cochran who was a lieutenant, said he had ridden into a town where disorder by soldiers had been reported. A negro in his command, he said, rushed up and seized his horse. When ordered to let go, the witness declared, the negro stepped back and started to shoot. Cochran said he shot quickly in self-defense. He declared he had been acquitted by court martial.

He said the statement to Col. Hayward that he was placed in close confinement pending trial was absolutely untrue.

Quoting from Col. Hayward's letters, Senator Watson emphasized that the colonel stated he had personally asked for Cochran's transfer, "as your usefulness with my regiment is ended."

BOOKMAKERS ARRESTED.

New Orleans, Jan. 4.—Forty-seven bookmakers, together with their 47 cashiers, operating at the fair grounds race track, were technically arrested at the conclusion of today's racing card by being directed to report to the sheriff's office on warrants issued on information furnished by District Attorney Marr, charging violation of the locke anti-gambling law. Bond was fixed in each case at $250.

Governor Renews Economy Plea to 1922 Legislature

Recommends Inquiry Into Causes of Excessive Cost of Local Governments

Good Start Made

Indications Point to "Short and Snappy Session; Recess Taken Until Monday Night

Albany, Jan. 4.—The 1922 legislature made a flying start today in accordance with the expressed desire of the leaders for a "short and snappy" session with adjournment by the middle of March. Not only was the opening day replete with business, but the recess ordered until next Monday night, was the shortest within the memory of any habitue of the capital. It was said by one student of legislative history that not since 1786 has there been so brief an interval between the initial session and the resumption of the season's work. Usually the recess is from ten to twelve days.

For celerity of movement today's opening recalled the convening of the 1920 legislature, when the first day's session was featured by the institution of the ouster proceedings against the Socialist members. Today, while lacking in the sensational elements of two years ago, both houses settled down to work immediately. Numerous concurrent resolutions and bills were introduced in senate and assembly, although none was read in the lower house.

Attacks Civic League Head.

An attack by Minority Leader Walker upon Rev. O. R. Miller, superintendent of the New York Civic league, enlivened the senate proceedings. Senator Walker, after reviewing the history of an investigation of bribery charges by Mr. Miller in 1911, which, he said, discredited Mr. Miller in the minds of the legislators, read from the Civic league's publication, "The Reform Bulletin," a statement declaring that Majority Leader Clayton R. Lusk might have received $100,000 from motion picture interests if he had not supported the motion picture censorship bill last year. The leader demanded that Senator Lusk either declare the allegation false or give the name of the persons offering the bribe. Senator Lusk replied that he knew nothing of the existence of such a fund and that no offer had been made to him. Senator Walker then offered a motion that Mr. Miller be denied the privileges of the senate floor, but no vote could be taken, as Senator John Knight of Wyoming denied the unanimous consent required by the rules.

Several bills embodying the legislative program of the Democratic minority were introduced. These included measures designed to give women equal representation with men on political state committees, provide municipal home rule, give municipalities control over public utilities and repeal the public service commission law of last year under which the New York Transit commission was created. Several measures designed to provide for payment of the $15,000,000 soldier bonus by removing the present constitutional impediments also were submitted.

Comments on Governor's Message.

Governor Miller's message the receipt of which was a plea for continued and further economy in the administration of state affairs, was read in both houses. Senator Walker and Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue, minority leaders in their respective chambers, issued a joint statement, in which they said that "Governor Miller's remarks on the subject of state finances remind one of the man who paid his promissory note by giving another one."

Senator Lack said of the message, "A large part of the Governor's message is taken up with the proposed changes in the administration of the business affairs of the state. By far the greater part of these proposed changes are so obvious that they will not be controversial. So far as I have talked with the members of the senate, they seem to be generally in accord with the plans for the coming session as outlined by the Governor."

Speaker Machold, upon his election as presiding officer of the assembly today, told his colleagues that the recommendations contained in the Governor's message would be the basic basis of legislative action this year.

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, Democrat, of New York, made an unsuccessful attempt to amend the rules of the assembly when, by a vote of 81 yeas and 53 nayes, the lower house rejected his amendment designed to abolish the committee on rules, which assumes charge of all legislation 10 days before final adjournment. Mr. Cuvillier sought to have a committee on committees of 15 members substituted for the rules committee.

SUMMARY OF GOVERNOR'S MANY RECOMMENDATIONS

Albany, Jan. 4.—The state of New York is now living within its income, Governor Nathan L. Miller told the legislature in his annual message which was read at the opening session today. If appropriations for the coming fiscal year are kept within $125,000,000, he said, it will be possible to relieve real estate of the burden of a direct tax of $22,500,000 for teachers' salaries without impairing the efficiency of the state's activities, and making it necessary to levy only a direct tax of $12,151,987 for debt service.

Recommendations contained in the message include:

Adoption of an amendment of the state constitution which will make it possible for the legislature to provide for the consolidation and reorganization of two or more state departments from time to time as experience may dictate.

The attorney general should represent the public before the Public Service commission's telephone investigation.

Legislation to end the state printing monopoly.

Creation of a central purchasing agency.

Completion of the state highway system from current revenues.

Removal of inequalities and injustices in tax laws.

Inquiry into the causes of excessive cost of local governments.

Placing of prison industries on an industrial basis.

Continued development of clinical field work for the Mental Defective commission.

Distribution of water power developed under state license should be more clearly reserved in order to assure general distribution.

State development of power from surplus canal waters.

Equal participation of men and women in party management.

Making obligatory the use of voting machines in cities of the first and second classes.

Permissive legislation for the establishment of county boards of child welfare.

Steps to remedy physical and mental handicaps of children.

Sale of state owned real estate which is not bearing revenue.

Would Restrict Expenditures.

In reviewing the subject of state finances, the governor pointed out that if the direct tax is to be confined to the $12,151,987 required for debt service, no new or unusual expenditures can be undertaken. However, the expenditures can be kept within $125,000,000, "public business will be upon such a basis that, under normal conditions, the present source of revenue with the direct tax for debt service will be adequate to meet the expenses of the state government."

Total revenue for 1922-1923 is estimated at $97,070,000. The estimated surplus on July 1, 1922, is $22,350,202, making the total estimated resources $119,420,202, exclusive of any direct tax.

The total amount of appropriations requested by the various state departments, which will be transmitted to the legislature without revision, Governor Miller said, is $142,969,657, or $50,824,627 less than the total requested last year and not including requirements of $4,621,51[illegible] that had to be met. ARMS CONGRESS NOTES PROGRESS

Resumes Work With Impetus That Sweeps Problems Almost to Point of Decision

SHANTUNG SETTLED?

Indicated Jap-Chinese Conversations on This Subject Will End Today

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 4.—After a five-day New Year's breathing space, the arms negotiations were resumed today with impetus that swept some of the most troublesome problems of the conference almost to the point of decision.

Chief among the separate discussions which appeared tonight to be approaching a conclusion was the contest between the Japanese and Chinese over Shantung. It was indicated that the conversations might end there now, one way or the other, and that the predominating belief was that the result would be an agreement rather than a final deadlock.

A final agreement was also in sight on the question of a revised Chinese tariff. After a long argument, the tariff subcommittee came together on a proposal to increase China's tariff which is under an international commission now, and the Far Eastern committee of the whole is expected to ratify the decision tomorrow.

Progress on Naval Problem.

Not the naval experts so much progress was made with technical details of the naval limitation plan that in some quarters it was declared final disposition of the subject was only a question of hours. Precise regulations for scrapping ships and details of replacement were numbered among the day's agreements in the naval subcommittee.

On the question of submarine restrictions, which has waited on further advices from the foreign capitals, Japan contributed another step toward decision by accepting in principle the Root resolutions proposing to outlaw the use of submarines against merchant vessels and to make violations of submarine regulations acts of piracy. Italy also promised to accept the principle propositions and a discussion by the full naval committee may take place late tomorrow.

New Troubles Expected.

At tomorrow's meeting of the Far Eastern committee, however, new troubles may be encountered through China's request that the famous "21 demands" be brought up for conference discussion. A protest was lodged by Japan just before the last meeting of the committee adjourned, and what promises to be a stubborn debate is expected by some delegates before the point is decided.

In some quarters also, considerable discussion is believed likely before there is a definite decision on the Root submarine proposals. France has indicated a desire to see some of the terms of the resolution fully discussed and clearly defined, and although the French said tonight they did not propose to press the point, it was indicated that some troublesome points probably would be injected into the conversations sooner or later by some one of the foreign powers.

Meantime the American advisory committe met and canvassed opinion on the submarine question with the result that the committee's previous position for retention of underwater war craft within strict regulations was reaffirmed. Members said a survey of editorial comment and public opinion generally convinced them that the American people strongly desired that submarine operations be brought within the considerations of humane warfare.

DRY CHIEF PLANS ACTION AGAINST BUFFALO HOTEL

Buffalo, Jan. 4.—Action against one of the leading hotels here on the ground that it maintained a place where the Volstead act was being violated openly may be taken soon, Chief Prohibition Agent Cristel said today.

The case, it was stated, will be the sequel to an arrest made on New Year's eve when the prohibition chief and deputies seized bottles and glasses from which guests in the hotel dining room had been drinking.

The extent of a hotel proprietor's responsibility for violation of the act by guests on occasions like New Year's eve revels, is expected to be established by the trial.

Washington, Jan. 4. — Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, wife of the former attorney general of the United States, died suddenly at her home here today.

Hays Offered Place in Motion Picture Industry

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 4.—Postmaster General Hays said today he had not yet decided whether to leave the cabinet and accept the new place he has been offered in the motion picture industry, and was not likely to make a decision within the next ten days.

He has not yet discussed the subject at any length with President Harding and does not intend to act until the wishes of his chief are fully understood.

Details of the offer to do for the motion picture people are to be discussed with them by Mr. Hays on January 11 and he has told his associates in official life here that he intends to hold an open mind until after that conference.

Despite evidence that Mr. Hays is not now inclined to favor the proposal made to him, some of those closely associated with him believe that in the end he may do so. The postmaster [illegible] a comparatively poor man. Published figures to the effect that the motion picture producing business has amounted to $150,000 a year to begin with are said to be somewhat under the sum now in prospect, as the idea has been increased upon the postmaster general's hitherto repeated refusals. Another contributing factor toward a favorable decision is the fact that Mr. Hayes regards the opportunities for public service in the new position as very great.

New York, Jan. 4. — Postmaster General Will H. Hays has signed a contract to become director general of the National Association of the motion picture industry at a salary of $150,000 a year, according to the New York World. This contract, which runs for three years, the paper says, was signed more than a week ago.

Mr. Hays, the World added, has arranged a conference with the national leaders of the motion picture industry in Washington on January 14, at which time he will make public on his account his decision to accept the post.

SEVERAL KILLED IN CLASH BETWEEN ITALIAN RADICALS

(By the Associated Press)

London, Jan. 4.—Fights in Italy between Communists and Fascisti during the new year holiday resulted in a number of participants being killed and wounded, according to a dispatch to the London Times today from Milan.

In Bologne, the Socialists were celebrating New Year's at their club with songs and dances, to which the Fascisti objected, and the latter are said to have stormed the club after the Socialists refused to cease singing. A battle ensued during which revolvers and sticks were used.

WILL FACE BINGHAMTON

Old Rivals Will Oppose O. H. S. at High School Saturday Night—The Revised Schedule.

Binghamton Central High school, basket ball rivals of O. H. S. for several years, will oppose the Yellow and White quintet at the local High school on Saturday evening. Binghamton always has a strong quintet and although several stars were lost by graduation last year the Parlor City team is likely to make the going rough for Coach Riley's charges. The team is one of the best in recent years, however, and with the good rest afforded by the Christmas vacation, is sure to put up a real battle. The game promises to be one of the best of the season.

The remainder of the schedule, as revised since its previous publication, follows:

Jan. 13—Cobleskill at Oneonta.
20—Schenectady at Oneonta
27—Open.
Feb. 3—Open.
10—Unadilla at Unadilla
17—Binghamton at Binghamton.
24—Cobleskill at Cobleskill.
Mar. 3—Hartwick Seminary at Oneonta.
10—Cooperstown at Oneonta.
10—Cooperstown at Cooperstown.
24—Roxbury at Roxbury.

Thoughtless Scatterers of Trash.

Many people scatter their trash broadcast through the land because they have not imagination enough to see how such action can rebound to their own hurt. There are many who are neither homeless nor landless themselves who can still act and live, so far as the rights of others are concerned, as though they were a race of nomads wandering across a trackless desert of swiftly cleansing sand. Their mental processes are as obvious as the trail they leave behind them in the landscape. We can understand them, but we do not like them.—From the Outlook.

Crude Methods of Defense.

Pueblo Indians were never warriors, but in the old days they were subject to frequent attacks by the wandering tribes, such as the Apaches and the Navajos. Therefore many of the crude adobe houses were built with portholes up near the roof, which the occupants used to defend themselves from the attackers. Many of these old houses are still standing, and portholes are still there, just as they were years and years ago. Of course they are all occupied, for no new houses are built unless there is an absolute necessity for them.

Don't Neglect a Cold

Mothers, don't let colds get underway; at the first cough or sniffle rub Musterole on the throat and chest.

Musterole is a pure, white ointment; made with oil of mustard. It draws out congestion, relieves soreness, does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster in a gentler way, without the blister.

GOVERNOR RENEWS ECONOMY PLEA TO 1922 LEGISLATURE

son," Governor Miller commented, "is the best evidence of the new spirit which pervades the public administration and demonstrates that notwithstanding the drastic reductions made last year, the actual needs of the state were amply provided for."

A "significant absence" of the usual requests for deficiency appropriations was noted. Departmental and institutional heads were credited by the governor with having administered their functions within the appropriations and instead of asking for deficiency appropriations many departments showed surpluses.

The state barge canal, according to the governor, has been maintained for the year at a cost of $573,219 less than the cost of the previous year, and for the first time since it was opened for traffic the canal has been cleared of obstructions and kept at a proper depth. A campaign of education to place the public the advantages of the canal was urged in the message.

In referring to the labors of the Board of Estimate and Control, Governor Miller recommended that lump sum appropriations be made in order that reorganizations may be effected by department heads upon whom rests the responsibility of administration. "The highly segregated appropriation plan," the governor wrote, which appeared sound in theory, like many other fine theories, worked badly in practice. The budget, he said, should be divided into two parts—an expense budget covering the cost of administering government, and a permanent improvement or capital budget.

Suggests Consolidation as Economy.

Consolidation of the Department of Public Works and the state engineer's office and, possibly, the Department of Highways, State Architect and Department of Public Buildings, was suggested as a means of economy and efficiency. Recommendation was made for a constitutional amendment to remove present restraints and make it possible for the legislature to provide for the reorganization and consolidation of any two or more departments.

Discussing the state printing, the governor declared that as all departmental printing is now awarded in a single contract, the result is elimination of competition. There are many classes of printing, he said, which do not have to be done in Albany. Present statute restrictions upon printing in state institutions ought to be removed and the printing law so amended as to permit "real competition" in the bidding for departmental printing. All printing should be placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Estimate and Control.

"In my opinion, the one improvement in existing methods offering the greatest hope of substantial economy," said the message, "is a centralized method of purchases for all departments and institutions." He said a great improvement had been made in purchasing methods for the institutions. A tabulation of the cost of 47 standard commodities aggregating $3,705,402, purchased by the institutional groups, showed that the difference between the actual cost and what would have been paid if all of the articles had been purchased at the minimum price was $317,793. "That rate of variation," added the governor, "would have amounted to more than one million dollars on the total appropriations for the institutions."

"I recommended that a Department of Purchase and Supply be created, the head to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, with complete power over purchases of all departments and institutions."

The governor also recommended the adoption of some procedure by which the state could dispose of 1,600 parcels of real estate not devoted to public use and not within the forest preserve, which are what he called a "dead asset."

Highways and Water Power.

In regard to highways, the message set forth that during the past year 618 miles of new state highways were constructed as compared with 246 the previous year; 202 miles were reconstructed as compared with 99 miles, and 7,479 were maintained as compared with 7,259 miles. There are 595 miles of road needing reconstruction, and it will be necessary to build 2,257 miles of new roads to complete the connected system of state roads of 11,300 miles authorized by the last legislature. The bond moneys for new construction will be virtually exhausted this year, he said, and unless an additional bond issue should be approved by referendum, which he did not advise, it will be necessary to complete the system out of current revenues.

"The state should grant licenses for the development of power for general distribution, not for private use," the governor said in referring to the state's water power policy. "With a general distribution assured, with the power to fix rates and to regulate service, capitalization and the secured debts of the licensee safeguarded, the maximum public benefit from the development of the potential water power within the state will unquestionably be secured through private enterprise."

Regarding the use of power from surplus canal waters, the governor recommended legislation authorizing the superintendent of public works to develop the same where practicable, such power to be sold at public letting. An appropriation to start development at Crescent dam and Visscher's ferry on the Mohawk river also was urged.

"With the task of reducing the expenditures of the state government to a point where its revenues may be expected to keep pace with its expenditures," the message said, "we should now seriously address ourselves to the problem of careful revision of them. We are not confronted with the necessity of seeking new revenues. The construction of a just and equitable tax system is our problem."

Recommending that provision be made for an investigation of "the excessive cost of local government," Governor Miller declared that although there had been a reduction of $12,500,000 in the direct state tax this year, there was little net reduction in many counties and in some counties there had been an increase. "The great burden from direct taxation resting upon real estate," he said, "results from the cost of local county, town and municipal governments, and that cost has been increased at a time when it has been demonstrated to be practicable to reduce the cost of government."

New York City Legislation.

The governor suggested that legislation affecting the city of New York, except to provide for emergencies, be held for consideration with the report of the New York charter commission. He expects this commission to report during the session of the legislature, in which event he will later convene an extraordinary session.

In reference to the election laws, the governor recommended legislation that would give women equal participation with men in party management. He also suggested that the use of voting machines be made obligatory in all cities of the first and second classes.

Little criticism of the care of the insane wards of the state can be made, the message said. It was recommended, however, that the 530 ex-service men within the metropolitan district, in state hospitals, be assembled in the Kings Park hospital, which, he said, embodies "the last word in modern psychiatry."

Prison industries should be placed on an industrial basis, and prisoners should be compensated for their labor, the governor declared.

Adequate provision for continuing the development of clinical and field work inaugurated by the commission for mental defectives was urged. In considering the subject of the feebleminded, he said the great problem was to avoid as far as possible institutionalizing them.

Child welfare came in for considerable attention. The governor recommended enactment of permissive laws establishing in all counties outside Greater New York a children's court to have jurisdiction in all cases of neglected and delinquent children, and the establishment of county boards of welfare.

After reviewing the work of the Public Service commission in its state-wide investigation of the New York Telephone company, the governor said the inquiry was judicial in its nature and the commission must finally decide as between the public and the company. For this reason he thought the attorney general should represent the public at the proceedings.

The message contained no reference to soldier bonus legislation.

PATERNALISTIC LEGISLATION CONDEMNED BY GOVERNOR

Albany, Jan. 4. — Paternalistic legislation by the federal government was condemned by Governor Miller at his afternoon meeting with the legislative reporters today. In replying to a question concerning his attitude toward the Shepard-Towner maternity and infancy welfare act, the governor said:

"All that sort of legislation, of which the Shepard-Towner act is a part, is in my opinion vicious, not that the ultimate object of it may not be a good one, but the plan of starting it from Washington is exactly the wrong end. If it does any good, it must start at the locality. You cannot put the foundation in Washington. The growing tendency of federal aid will inevitably have the effect to educate the people, the localities and states to lean more and more on Washington, and the more you lean on somebody else the less you lean on yourselves. But we cannot always have everything just as we want it and Washington seems to have got started on the plan. From mid-wife it won't be very far from acting as nurse and the public will get to expect to be nursed from the cradle to the grave, and I do not think that is a good thing."

UNCERTAINTY RULES ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Dealings, Though Extensive, Converge Around Less Than Score of Market Leaders

New York, Jan. 4.—Uncertain tendencies prevailed in the stock market today, although prices strengthened in the afternoon in response to easy money and the support accorded selected issues, such as sugars, textiles, tobaccos and chain store and mail order specialties.

Dealings were extensive, approximating 850,000 shares, but a very large proportion of the business converged around less than a score of leaders comprising the oil, motor, rubber, steel and equipment divisions.

Sentiment continued to be swayed by the Chicago banking episode and the less favorable aspects of the industrial situation, especially as affecting the automobile and allied trades.

Motor accessories, especially rubbers, were under increased pressure in consequence of yesterday's omission of the Kelly-Springfield stock dividend. Shipings, chemicals and numerous miscellaneous shares denoted little more than casual support, and rails, coalers excepted, were relegated to obscurity.

The money market again was the greatest source of encouragement to bullish initiative. Call loans dropped from 5½ percent to 5 percent at midday and were liberally supplied at four percent in the last half of the session.

Dealings in foreign exchange were light, the London rate easing only slightly. All other continental bills except Belgian francs were lower by 2 to 30 points.

Forecasts pointed to the successful flotation of the new $40,000,000 Dutch East Indies loan.

CHILL WINTER'S WINDS TURN SPORT DEVOTEES SOUTHWARD WHERE "IT'S JUNE IN MIAMI"

President Harding, in his shirtsleeves, put his stamp of approval on the Miami golf courses when wintry blasts swept northern links.

The crack polo teams of the United States will compete this year on the polo fields at Miami, Florida, the land of palms and sunshine.

The devotee of open air sports who finds his occupation gone as the icy blasts of winter sweep the northern golf courses and polo fields has turned his attention southward, where winter brings no ice and snow. Because "it's June in Miami," the city farthest south on the mainland of the United States, the Florida winter resort has become the Mecca for thousands whose interests lie with field sports.

Under the golden sunshine of Miami the golf enthusiast like President Harding can make his round of the course in white flannels and shirtsleeves, in midwinter, when the northern golf player has decided to lay up his clubs because his club links are knee deep in snow or frozen slush.

Miami opened its winter season early this year—just as soon as the first chill winds of winter sent the pleasure seekers scurrying south looking for warmth. The city that basks in the gentle warmth that flows from the blue Gulf Stream was crowded with winter residents by mid-December, and the numerous golf courses were soon sprinkled with the enthusiasts who had been driven from their home links in the north by winter weather. When the clubhouses of the north are snowed under the Miami Country Club is basking in the southern sunshine and preparing for its mid-winter golf tournament which this year will be held from January 23 to 27.

Polo, too, a typical summer sport, has taken hold at Miami and polo fields that cost hundreds of thousands of dollars lure the polo player and enthusiast from the north. Each year hundreds of polo ponies are shipped to the Miami stables, and each year the Cuban polo team journeys to Miami to compete with American teams on a field that compares favorably with the older fields at Lenox and Meadowbrook.

Of course, with June in Miami, winter sports are a great feature of life in the city Farthest South in mid-winter, and weekly water sport tournaments are held on Miami's palm shaded beaches.

So now when the cities of the north shiver in the icy blasts, the devotee of open air sports turns his face toward Miami.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Earl Celebrate Event at Home in Wells Bridge — Dewitt Underwood May Lose Hand.

Wells Bridge Jan. 4.—Mr and Mrs. Charles L. Earl celebrated their golden wedding at their home in this village on New Year's day, January 1. Invitations to 40 relatives and intimate friends were responded to with nearly every chair filled at the sumptuous dinner, which was served in the large dining room at the home of their sister, Mrs. L. G. Chamberlain, who resides next door. After dinner Rev. John H. Earl, son of the happy couple acting as toastmaster, called on the older members of the company for reminiscences of the days pertaining to Mr. and Mrs. Earl some 50 years ago. The responses were greatly enjoyed.

Many gold coins, as well as other appropriate gifts, were presented to the highly esteemed couple. Mr. and Mrs. Earl have lived the 50 years of their married life in this community, coming to the home of the groom soon after their wedding, which took place at Ouquaga, January 1, 1872. They have always taken an active part in the social and religious life of the community and are much beloved.

Ice Harvest Commenced.

Many Wells Bridge farmers have been busy harvesting ice from the Susquehanna river, the zero weather of the past few days being ideal for the purpose. The ice is about eight inches thick and of fine quality. The warmer weather which arrived today is likely to end activities, however.

Dewitt Underwood May Lose Hand.

Dewitt Underwood, who resides on the Christopher Crandall farm, about a mile above Wells Bridge, in the town of Otsego, is in the Fox Memorial hospital at Oneonta with a badly injured right hand. Mr. Underwood was feeding an ensilage cutter on his farm when he caught his right hand in the blades. It was with great difficulty that he finally succeeded in extricating the hand, which was badly mangled. Wallace Sisson carried him to his automobile to the hospital. Most of the thumb was amputated Tuesday. Hospital officials said that it might be necessary to remove a finger or two, and they were not sure that they could save the hand. Mr. Underwood's many friends greatly regret his misfortune.

Mrs. Root Returns Home.

Mrs. Seymour Root, who had been with her mother, Mrs. Rose in Portlandville for several weeks, returned home last week. She went to Portlandville to care for her mother, and while there was herself taken ill. It was some time before she rallied sufficiently to return home, but she is now quite herself again."

Guests at the Jackson Home.

Mrs. Luella Jackson of Treadwell is a guest at the home of Laura Jackson. Dr. Howard Jackson of Springfield, Mass., who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Sisson with their two daughters, who had also been guests at the Jackson residence have returned to their home in Suffern, Conn.

OTSEGO MAN HURT IN FALL.

Herman Fish Suffers Bad Cut on Head and Bruises About Body.

Otsego, Jan. 4—While working on John Herring's bungalow the other day, Herman Fish a carpenter, lost his footing and fell several feet to the ground. His principal injury was a three inch gash in his head. The injured man was taken to Oneonta, where he was attended by Dr. Cooke, who found it necessary to take several stitches to close the wound. While suffering considerable pain from the cut and bruises about the body, Mr. Fish is fairly comfortable and considers himself fortunate to have escaped more serious injuries.

Mrs. Shepherd Breaks Arm.

Mrs. Alice Shepherd, who has been housekeeper for Charles Houck at Wells Bridge, suffered a broken arm in a fall there last week. She has returned to Otsego and is being cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Ward Stokes.

Bible Class Entertained.

On Saturday evening the pastor's Bible class was entertained at the home of Mr. A social time, with games and music, occupied the early part of the evening, and at 10:30 refreshments were served. Later, Mrs. Myers gave a helpful and inspiring talk which closed with prayer as the old year passed into eternity and a new year with possibilities for service, was born.

Evangelistic Services.

Evangelistic services are being conducted this week at the Baptist church by Pastor Myers. The subject for Thursday evening is "The Second Coming" and for Friday, "Is It Nothing to You?" All welcome.

Wilbur Lamont Waring.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Waring are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the arrival of an eight-pound son, Wilbur Lamont, born December 29.

West Oneonta, Jan. 4. — It has been requested that the ladies of the Franklin association meet in their respective churches Jan. 6th at 2:30 p. m. for an inspirational and informational meeting concerning the Continuation Campaign of the $100,000,000 drive.

Such a meeting of the ladies of this church and congregation will be held at the home of Mrs. Claude Galer, Friday at 2:30 p. m. A large attendance is desired.

West Oneonta Cemetery Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the West Oneonta Cemetery association the following officers were elected:
President—George E. White jr.
Secretary—D. V. Arnold
Treasurer—Frank Tabor.

The three trustees selected for three more years are: James Galer D. E. Potter, D. F. Arnold. George E. White was elected to fill the unexpired term of his father and Frank Williams to fill the unexpired term of Fred Terpining who resigned.

During the past year eleven bodies have been moved to the West Oneonta cemetery from the Strait burying

ELECTRICIAN HARRIS HAPPILY SHOCKED

"Yes, I had bronchitis, and had it bad. Don't, says Charles Harris, an electrician by trade. My lungs were in bad shape and I coughed from morning 'til night, and the lungs got so sore after a while, that most every breath would pain me. I got all rundown and lost a lot of weight. I had heard so much about Foleys Honey and Tar that I went to the druggist and got a bottle. I can truthfully say that I didn't expect it to do anything like what it did for me. The very next morning I began to feel different. My appetite got better and I began to eat more. The pain in my chest began to leave right today. I haven't a trace of them remaining. It surely seems wonderful to feel right again and Foleys Honey and Tar has done it for me. I am gaining in weight again and the best I work with all say how well I look."

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $5.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but the prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the worst cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure. And good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo. —"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."—Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury St., St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner.

BANNING THE SUBMARINE.

The proposition embraced in the second and third of the Root resolutions, which would ban the use of submarines in attacks on merchant ships and make offenders pirates has been accepted in principle by France along with other powers at the Washington conference. In its entirety there had already been accepted the first resolution which governed the action of submarines, such as requiring visit and search before capture and barring the destruction of merchant ships until passengers and crew had been placed in safety.

In a conference which has accomplished much in the way of limitation of major armament, there had been on the part of some members, and of some nations, a disposition to refer to the submarine as a minor instrument of war, and to suggest that it is so slightly effectual that it can be safely disregarded. The experience of the World War does not bear out this idea. A study of naval conflicts during that period will, it is believed, show that it was more effectual, and more dreaded, than the big battleships which sailed the seas. As for sailing radius, it should not be forgotten that submarines were able to cross the Atlantic, not once but several times.

Altogether, it is a quite general belief that the under-water ship will be a great menace in time of war, and this the more because it has been the experience of recent years that fighting nations are inclined to disregard peace-made covenants in emergencies. The only sure way to prevent the use of either surface ships or submarines is not to have the ships.

FREE ENGLAND OR IRELAND?

It is not long ago, perhaps twenty years or so, that F. P. Dunne in one of his famous Dooley papers had the following scrap of conversation between Dooley and Mr. Hennessy:

"I wondher will England iver free Ireland?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Niver," said Mr. Dooley. "What talk have ye? No wan wants it that way. England will niver free Ireland, but some day, if we make it inthrestin' enough f'r her, she'll have to free England iv Ireland. An' that'll be all right."

The Dunne prophecy is evidently coming true. Ireland has made it interesting, and England, worn out in the process, is freeing herself so far as possible from her neighbor island. That she should free herself entirely would apparently be as great a misfortune for the one island as the other; and this is seemingly the opinion of Irish statesmen as well as English. Geographical situation precludes entire separation of what nature has joined together.

AUTHORITY ON CATSKILLS.

Walton VanLoan, Well Known About Stamford, Dies at 87.

Walton VanLoan, publisher of the VanLoan Catskill Mountain Guide, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson, Catskill, Friday, December 30, aged 87 years. He is survived by his wife and three nephews. Mr. VanLoan was well known in Stamford and through the Catskill mountains. He was one of the pioneers in advertising and developing the mountain resorts, and was considered one of the best informed and an authority on the Catskill mountains. In his business he visited about all the mountain peaks, obtaining their altitude, location, etc. When the tower was erected on Mt. Utsayantha, Stamford, Mr. Van Loan mapped out on the railing of the tower lines designating direction of all prominent mountain peaks, their altitude and air line distance from Mt. Utsayantha, which was of much value to visitors to the mountain. He did this work on several peaks of the Catskills besides interesting people and assisting in the work of erecting towers of observation. He also made many maps of the Catskills which were published with his guide book.

SECOND TRIAL OF SMITH.

Announced to Commence at Norwich on Monday, January 9.

It is announced by District Attorney Ward H. Truesdall of Chenango county that the second trial of Herbert W. Smith for the murder of Lewis Johnson will commence at Norwich on Monday, Jan. 9th, and will be concluded at the earliest possible date.

It will be recalled that the court of appeals recently granted the convicted man a new trial on some technical errors which they held had marked the first trial. This included giving the jury a pair of handcuffs to examine by the sheriff after they had excluded on the trial.

Judge McCann is now presiding at a term of the supreme court in Norwich, but it is said that he may go to Cortland and relieve Judge Kellogg who is presiding at a trial term there and permit Judge Kellogg who presided at the first trial to go to Norwich and preside at the second trial. It is not believed that the second trial will disclose any additional evidence tending to make the proof of guilt less conclusive.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

Safeguards for Marriage.

Judge Talley has taken a case of bigamous marriage recently before him in general sessions to point his proposal that all marriage licenses obtained shall be advertised in the papers. His plan offers a more thorough safeguard perhaps than the publication of banns in church as a preliminary to all marriages; and he favors the requirement of a month's interval between the publication of the license and the marriage ceremony itself.

It is to be assumed that Judge Talley's purpose is to safeguard the sanctity of the marriage relation, as well as to prevent bigamous or other unlawful marriage contracts. Since colonial times the publication of marriage banns has not been of statutory requirement in the United States; the English practice is followed of granting a license to marry as an alternative. Cases in which a "reading in church" has resulted in barring marriages promising undesirable results are not very frequent. Newspaper publication would constitute legal notice to all persons concerned, and would seem to meet the needs of society at present more fully than a publication in church.

Numerous recent cases of bigamous marriages contracted in ignorance point to the need of some general precautionary measure.—[New York Sun.

A Billion for Housing.

A sum estimated at $1,000,000,000 is to be expended in the United States during 1922 for the erection of dwellings. Parts of the total will go into apartment houses; the rest into houses to accommodate one or more families. It is estimated that housing will be provided for more than 166,000 families of five persons each, or more than 830,000 persons.—[Troy Record.

The Reddest Yet.

The newly formed Workers' party of America is mostly founded on the idea that Socialism is tame and antiquated. The new party imports its ideas from Moscow and is to work for a Soviet republic. The members call themselves "rebels" and are avowedly for "the revolution."

They are organizing foreign groups as such in this country and apparently have little use for either American ideas or the English language. It will be interesting to see if the party will last till the next Presidential election.—[Buffalo Expss.

Harding on Happiness.

President Harding has learned, as have all who have risen to exalted station since the beginning of time, that high place does not necessarily bring happiness. In a reply to a holiday greeting from the oldest employe in his Marion newspaper, Mr. Harding wrote him that experience has taught him this truth. He has learned that there is "even more happiness in some of our humbler pursuits than there is in assuming responsibility in high places."

Men have been learning this truth since the dawn of the world. They will not be deterred, however, from seeking the high places, with their responsibilities, their disappointments, their crosses and their emptiness. Some are imbued with the spirit of ambition, and cannot be content in humble place, though they know that they will face storms and clouds on the heights. To go up before men one must sacrifice something of private ends, of personal pleasures, of family ties. However, the heights are not altogether without real happiness — not the gratification that comes of ambitions achieved, but the feeling that one is serving his fellow men in places of difficulty and labor and that because of his efforts life is made better for many.—[Rochester Post-Express.

Talking in Trillions.

The World war first taught us to thing and talk in billions, and now the Russian Bolshevists have pushed our ideas into trillions. This appears in the statement made at Moscow that in four years the Soviet government issued 11,152,000,000,000 paper rubles. These are worth about a billion gold rubles, which means that it now takes 11,152 of these almost worthless paper bills to purchase what one of the czar's gold rubles would have bought in the old days. There has probably never been a more impressive example of the folly of issuing irredeemable paper currency. If Bolshevism continues it may yet reach the stage of talking in quadrillions.—[Philadelphia Record.

College Athletics.

College athletics are as much a part of colleges as class work, and contribute in due proportion to the training of young men for the business of life. Furthermore, they create a rampant spirit that could hardly be obtained by debating teams or amateur theatricals. The college boy is enthusiastically for his football team, and that helps him to be for his college. Whether he is a player or a cheer leader, or just one of the students, he gets wrought up to high pitches of excitement at every game. Excitement is good for the young.—[New York Tribune.

Muzzle the Submarine.

If the submarine cannot be outlawed or limited, it can be muzzled, its claws can be cut and its more cruel and inhuman fangs can be drawn. Every hater of the horrors of submarine warfare will welcome and approve the stand of the American delegation and the British to curb this assassin to the sea.—[Public Ledger.

A Full House.

As guests at the wedding of the Princess Mary will be the kings of Spain, Belgium, Norway, Italy and Denmark. In fact, about all the kings that are left in the deck.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Their Fiftieth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Walling of 22 Division street commemorated their 50th marriage anniversary at home New Years Day, only immediate members of the family being present. They were presented with many gifts and messages of remembrance, and had many calls from their numerous friends about the city who wished them many happy returns of the day.

New Year Promises Food for Millions of Children Like These in Russian Famine Districts If America Comes to Rescue

Every one of these solemn-faced little Russians was in danger of starving to death, when the American Relief Administration, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, came to their rescue with bowls of food. They contain such nourishing ingredients as rice, cocoa and beans, and are furnished to children who have now become the charges of the Relief Administration.

But there are millions of other children and their parents—nearly thirty millions in all the famine and food-shortage areas—who are equally in need of aid but who cannot be fed unless the American public of its generosity comes to their raid. To facilitate their doing so and to enable Russians or persons of Russian descent living in the United States to save their suffering relatives abroad, a Food Remittance Department has been opened by the American Relief Administration. By applying to this department, located at No. 42 Broadway, New York, or at any office of the Joint Distribution Committee, a person wishing to send such a remittance can obtain a blank to be filled out with the name and address of the individual or organization or stranger he wishes to help. This blank must be returned with the necessary check or money order. Remittances call for the delivery of food to the value of from $10 to $50 in units of $10, to the individual designated in the blank, or to the value of $500 to a recognized organization. They are forwarded to Moscow for distribution to the various food warehouses where the beneficiaries are notified to call for their supplies. The first remittances were delivered three weeks from date of purchase in New York. Should the person desiring to avail himself of this method of saving Russia's dying be unacquainted with any individuals in that country, the blank can be made out to "General Relief" and the American Relief Administration will then distribute the food to those in greatest need.

SUPERVISORS ORGANIZE

J. D. BEARDSLEE ELECTED CHAIRMAN AND D. J. KILKENNY CLERK OF 1922 BOARD.

With All But One Member Present, County Legislature Begins Work of New Year—Fifteen Republicans and 9 Democrats on New Board of Supervisors—Seats of Ten Old Members Filled by New Men.

Cooperstown, Jan. 4.—Following closely upon the final adjournment of last year's board a week ago, the newly elected board of supervisors of Otsego county met here this afternoon and organized for the coming year. There has been a considerable change in the Board's personnel, the seats of ten of the old members being filled by new men. This year there are 17 Republicans and 10 Democratic members. The complete list of the new county legislators follows, asterisks indicating new members:

Burlington—Jasper D. Fitch, Burlington Flats. *
Butternuts—William Hakes, Gilbertsville. *
Cherry Valley—John Sawyer, Cherry Valley.
Decatur—John Nelson, Worcester.
Edmeston—Clarence A. Talbot, Edmeston. *

Roseboom—Robert J. Smith, Roseboom.
Springfield—Frank M. Smith, Springfield Center.
Unadilla—William Dickson, Unadilla.
Westford—Lee McRorie, Westford.
Worcester—Deforest Goodell, Worcester. *

With the exception of Mr. Haight of Milford, who was reported as being ill, all were present and answered to the roll call. At the completion of the roll call, F. M. Smith moved that a rising vote be taken for chairman. This resulted in 15 votes being cast for J. D. Beardslee, Republican, of Pittsfield, and 9 for F. M. Hand, Democrat, of Laurens. Mr. Beardslee being thereby declared elected. Mr. Hand then moved that the election of Mr. Beardslee be made unanimous. The motion fas carried.

Mr. Whipple next moved for a rising vote for clerk of the board. D. J. Kilkenny, newly appointed county attorny and former clerk, was unanimously elected to continue in this office.

Mr. Beardslee and Mr. Kilkneey each made a few brief remarks of thanks for the honor done them in their repsective appointments and assured the members that they would strive assideously during the coming year in the interest of the board and in justification of the confidence reposed in them.

The only matter of business brought up during the meeting was a request from the democratic members to change the designation made to the Oneonta Press to print the concurrent resolutions and other propositions for 1922 so that it might be carried out by the Freeman's Journal, the subscription list of the Press having been transferred to the Journal.

The list of standing committees is being prepared and will be ready for presentation on Thursday morning.

VICINITY NOTES

The sign which since the hotel was opened in 1847 has been removed from the front of the aforetime Edgerton house at Delhi, and it will hereafter be known as the Whitlock inn.

The body of Wallace Adams, aged 63, a blacksmith, lumberman and lifelong resident of Hancock, was found hanging from a yellow birch tree in the rear of his house near Lordville on Friday last. He had been dead since Tuesday. He evidently left the house with a rope when he was going for wood, saying that village was too slow to fill a bed. MUST SUPPORT CHILDREN

William Wright, Arrested for Non-Support of Three Sons, Released Upon Promise to Provide for Them.

William Wright, arrested near Sidney by state troopers on Monday and arraigned in city court Tuesday morning on the charge of non-support of his three children, was released from custody upon his promise to look after the children in the future.

Wright, a widower, came from North Franklin last fall bringing with him his three boys, the oldest only 13 years old. He placed them with a Stiles family on West Broadway, promising to pay his share of the expense of boarding them. About three weeks ago he left the city, saying that he was going to work in Sidney and would send $9 each week for the children's support. He failed to make good his promise and, the Stiles family being of limited means and unable to assume the additional burden of expense, a warrant was issued by Judge Huntington for Wright's arrest on the charge of non-support, it being evident that the children were in danger of being public charges.

State Troopers Parish and Metter arrested Wright on Monday at Rogers Hollow near Sidney, where he was working as a teamster, and brought him to Oneonta that evening. When arraigned Wright stated that he had found a place for the children with a family in Sidney and promised to look after them in the future. The case was then dismissed.

Many ambitious men and women live only half a life—and don't know it

No person whose nerves are continually irritated, whose appetite and digestion are disturbed, or who doesn't sleep well has more than half his normal chance for success in life. For weakness, debility, anemia and general lack of tone are a serious handicap to anybody.

Those who drink tea or coffee are often sufferers from these conditions. Tea and coffee contain caffeine, a substance which has a decided stimulant action on the nerves.

Each cup of strong coffee contains about as large a dose of caffeine as your doctor would ordinarily give to a very sick person.

You can readily see that the effect of giving this stimulant regularly to a well person might finally have a tendency to make him sick.

If you want to avoid a very common cause of irritation and enjoy restful sleep, good digestion, and the feeling of vigor and robust endurance that comes to healthy, normal people, quit tea and coffee, and drink Postum, instead. It is a rich, coffee-like cereal beverage—perfectly delicious!

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this fragrant, aromatic beverage and see how much better you'll feel—able to do more without becoming fatigued—as thousands have discovered for themselves.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold everywhere!

LOCAL MENTION

—Saturday being the Feast of the Epiphany, there will be a celebration of holy communion in St. James' church at 8 a. m.

—The Citizen's National bank has a limited number of the new Peace Dollars, which can be secured by friends and patrons while the supply lasts.

—The summer house on the Stewart property at the corner of Main street and Ford avenue, which was given to the city recently by Mrs. James Stewart, was moved yesterday to Neahwa park.

—Tickets for the dinner of the Oneonta Fish, Game and Gun club to be held at the Windsor hotel on Friday evening are on sale at $1 each at Brigham's Jewelry store, Goldthwaite's bookstore, the City Drug store and the Windsor hotel.

—The Normal and the public schools opened yesterday, each with its full complement of teachers and students. All seemed rested by their holiday vacation and ready to enter with zest into the work of the winter term, which will continue without interruption until the Easter recess.

—Though the weather was distinctly unfavorable, there was good attendance yesterday at the meeting of the Ladies' circle of the Main Street Baptist church. Matters of interest relative to the year's work were discussed and definite plans therefor were made.

TO ADDRESS MEN'S CLUB.

Rev. Dr. J. M. M. Gray of Elm Park Church To Speak Here.

Announcement is made that the first meeting of the Men's club of the First Methodist church will be held on Monday evening, January 16, and that Rev. Dr. J. M. M. Gray, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist church of Scranton, Pa., will be the speaker.

Rev. Dr. Gray is considered one of the most eloquent speakers in the Methodist church and he came to the Elm Park church from a large church in the west and has already won an enviable reputation in the Wyoming valley.

His subject will be "The Devil and Democracy." Dr. Gray was honored last Memorial day by being invited to deliver the annual oration on that day at Gettysburg. Members of the club will anticipate the address and the ladies have promised on of their best dinners.

Will [illegible] First Baptist Church.

[illegible] S. D. Bowden of Kavlli, South India, will speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. Bowden went from Rochester, this state, to South India in 1901 and has recently returned on furlough. His work at Kavlli has been most interesting and his message regarding it will be most inspiring to all interested in the cause of missions. He has been given to New York state for the month of January by the board of promotion. It is a noticeable recognition of the standing of the First Baptist church of this city that he has been assigned to it for January 8. The public is cordially invited.

Half Moons Issue Challenge.

George Vincent, manager of the Oneonta Half Moons, one of the strongest basketball teams in the city, announces that he will challenge any team in this part of the state for a contest with his quintet. The Half Moons line up with A. Farone and C. Vincent, forwards; P. Barnes, center and captain; C. Davis and G. Winthrop, guards; and R. Wheeler, substitute. Mr. Vincent, who coaches the team in addition to managing it, may be addressed 21 Brookside, Oneonta.

Reduced Hours at Shops.

Instructions have been received from Albany at the D. & H. shops here to reduce the number of hours to 40 hours a week and commencing with Saturday next to lay off the men employed at what is known as the "back shop" until further notice. It is hoped here that the reduction will not be of long duration, though of course no intimation has been given of the probable length of the short hours.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS

Mrs. J. S. Lunn, President Since Club's Formation, Presented With Token of Esteem.

The meeting of the Mothers club, held in the parlors of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, proved highly enjoyable to the many members in attendance. Following the business meeting, during which the annual reports of the secretary and of the treasurer were read, recent children from the primary department of the Sunday school gave recitations which proved of much interest, the little ones doing remarkably well.

During the meeting several of the ladies stated benefits which they had derived from membership in the club, all expressing the belief that the organization had done much for them. Mrs. E. J. Farley gave a very able history of the club, which started 10 years ago with 57 charter members and now has a membership of 200. It being the 10th anniversary of the club, Mrs. Joseph S. Lunn, who has been president of the club since its formation and who has worked unceasingly in its behalf, was presented with a sterling silver meat fork as a token of love and appreciation of the members. Mrs. Lunn responded with feeling to the speech of presentation.

A large supply of canned fruit, pickles and jelly was contributed by those present and will be sent to the tuberculosis sanitorium at Mt. Vision.

ENJOYABLE CARD PARTY

Catholic Daughters of America Hold Successful Function in St. Mary's Church Parlors.

The card party held by the Catholic Daughters of America in the parlors of St. Mary's church last evening proved a source of much enjoyment to the many members and guests present. The following musical program was the outstanding feature of the evening's entertainment.

Piano selection. Mrs. Rose Long.
Vocal solo—At Dawning Clifford Walsh accompanied by Miss Vallee.
Recitation—The Queer Family. Miss Gertrude Blanchard.
Solo—Gypsy Love Song. James Walsh.
Recitation—Kelley's Dream. Miss Alice Fagan.

Progressive euchre and 500 were played during the evening. The 500 prizes were won by Mrs. E. E. Crawley, Mrs. H. Lewis, J. Dunden and H. Lewis, the consolation prizes going to Miss Mae McGuiness and P. Hanan.

The euchre prizes were awarded to Miss Katharine McNee, Miss Beth LaReau, J. Monohan and A. Sturkin. The consolation prizes went to Miss Mary Burke and W. Getter.

For the success of the affair much credit is due the committee in charge, which consisted of Mrs. M. F. Leamy, chairman, Mrs. W. I. Lafleau, Mrs. Harry Cook, Mrs. John Kirwan, Mrs. P. Keegan and Mrs. Mary Newcomb.

MOLINARI JURY STILL OUT

Case of Oneonta Man Charged With Illegal Sale of Liquor Still in Hands of Jury at 1 A. M. Today After Eight Hour Session.

Cooperstown, Jan. 5. — The fall term of county court, adjourned from the week before Christmas, was continued here Tuesday afternoon. The only case taken up was that of the People versus Anthony Molinari, of Oneonta, charged with the illegal sale of liquor. This case had been postponed for some time on the plea of Molinari's being [illegible] illness. After [illegible] Byard of Coo[illegible]on and Claude V. Smith [illegible]ona represented the defendant while District Attorney Adrian Pierson acted for the people.

The jury retired shortly before 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Shortly afterward Judge Welch informed the remaining jurors that they might be finally excused as all the cases to be brought up at the present term had been taken care of.

At 1 o'clock this (Thursday) morning the jury was still out with no immediate prospect of an agreement being reached.

MR. VAN WOERT CONTINUES

To Serve as Police Attorney for the City for the Present.

No nomination has yet been made for the office of police attorney for the city and for the present at least Lee D. VanWoert will continue to serve, it is expected. The charter provides that the police attorney shall be named by the mayor and city judge, but thus far those officials have been unable to agree upon any one and the former attorney is expected to hold the office until his successor is chosen.

This is the only appointment in city officials that has not been made, all others having been agreed upon and those nominated by Mayor Miller have been confirmed promptly by the council. The contest may be prolonged and Mr. VanWoert may serve throughout the year.

At the Parshall Hospital.

The condition of Frank Naples, eight-year-old Worcester boy who is suffering from abdominal wounds received in an accidental shooting on Saturday, was still considered critical by hospital authorities last evening.

Hendrick Frommagen has made such a satisfactory recovery from his recent operation that he was able to be moved to his home on Academy street yesterday.

Family Social Work Association.

The annual meeting of the Family Social Work association will be held at the Community house on Saturday evening, January 7, at 8 o'clock. The secretary will read a report of the work of the organization for the past eight months and the annual election of directors will take place. All members and those interested in the work are invited to be present.

BOOSTERS ISSUE CHALLENGE

Offer Contest With Other Chamber of Commerce Members in Stock Taking Campaign — Organization Will Encourage Young Men to Join Automobile Club.

The Boosters issued a challenge at their meeting last night to other members of the Chamber of Commerce, who are not Boosters, to compete with them in the two-day stock-taking campaign this month, which will mark the close of the Chamber's fiscal year and the beginning of activities on a new program of work during 1922.

Prominence of the younger business men of the city in the reorganization campaign of the Chamber of Commerce, most of whom were Boosters, gave the organization a reputation which older members of the Chamber have been inclined to dispute. Realizing the importance of the coming annual "clean-up," that the coming year may see even greater achievements by the organization than has the past, the Boosters issued their challenge.

A great deal of friendly rivalry is expected to ensue as a result of the challenge, although, of course, it is not possible to conjecture as to what reply will be made to it.

Steps to encourage a larger membership in the Automobile club among the younger automobile owners were taken at the meeting, after appreciative remarks of the commendable activities of the club in the past. A committee which had interviewed cashiers of the two local banks regarding early payment of Christmas fund checks to permit early Christmas shopping next year, reported that both banks seemed agreeable to pay depositors on paid-up accounts upon request on December 1, with interest to that date.

The challenge relating to the Chamber of Commerce stock-taking campaign follows:

"Whereas, The Boosters played a conspicuous part in the reorganization campaign of the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce last January, and since then the Boosters have successfully carried out projects in the Chamber's program of work referred to our organization, and Boosters as members of the Chamber have played a prominent part in the committee service which has secured some of the noteworthy achievements of the Chamber during the past year, and

"Whereas, It is understood that the board of directors of the Chamber are laying plans for an intensive two-day campaign this month to increase the membership and add to the organization's income, that the 1922 budget may enable the accomplishing of even greater things for the betterment of Oneonta and the general welfare of the community than have been accomplished the past year therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the Boosters, offer our services during the campaign to the Chamber's board of directors, and if they approve we do hereby challenge the other members of the Chamber of Commerce, not Boosters, to perfect a team organization to compete with teams organized of Boosters, under a system of points to be devised by representatives of the competing teams, with sufficient allowances to our opponents because of deficiencies and decrepitudes they may possess, and be it further

"Resolved, That if this challenge be accepted, we, as an organization of young men with [illegible] their veins" [illegible] determine to show [illegible] and to Oneonta [illegible] that we cannot be [illegible] when it comes to shooting, Oneonta."

ONEONTA PRESS SOLD.

Subscription List Sold by Mr. Miller to the Freeman's Journal.

It is announced that the Oneonta Press, the weekly Democratic paper long published in Oneonta will no longer be published. Hon. C. A. Miller has conducted the paper for years and sold the subscription list and good will to the publishers of the Freeman's Journal, the Democratic paper published at the county seat. Mr. Miller will continue the job printing business but the paper will no longer be printed.

The Press was established in 1876 and for years enjoyed a large and lucrative business. Its first publisher was W. H. Jefferson, who was familiarly known as "Jeff" and he is well remembered by many of the older residents. It was later under the management of Raymond & Smith, the firm being composed of the late Eugene Raymond and J. Sherry Smith, both of whom are now deceased, the latter having died about six years ago in Chicago. It was next published by Coats & Weed, two printers well-known here a third of a century ago. Elmer E. Coats and Charles E. Weed, Louis W. Forenbaugh was the next publisher and he in turn sold it to the late Henry G. Bishop, who conducted it for a number of years.

It was sold by Mr. Bishop to Chester A. Miller, who has been its editor in recent years, the Oneonta Press, Inc., having been the owner since the incorporated company was formed.

CITIZEN CATCHES PEEPER

George Bellfield Captures Man Whom He Discovers Peering in Window of His Home—Culprit Given Suspended Sentence.

George Hotaling, 59, of 24 Broad street, was given a suspended sentence when arraigned in city court yesterday morning on the complaint of George Bellfield, who stated that he discovered Hotaling peering into a window of his home on Clinton avenue Tuesday evening. Hotaling was arrested by Bellfield and turned over to the police.

At about 8 o'clock Bellfield noticed a man looking into a window of his home. Running to the door he hailed the man, who had gained the road by that time asking him his business. The man failed to answer and started running down the street. Bellfield started after him and pursued him for some distance before he gave up the chase. As he approached his home Bellfield noticed that the man had turned back and was coming up the hill again. He again gave chase and this time captured the fellow. He took him to Main street and turned him over to Officer Crouch, stating that he would appear against him the next morning.

When questioned by the police, Hotaling admitted that he had been "peeping" and also admitted a similar offense on River street last fall. Bellfield has been bothered by a man answering his description before, reporting a similar case to the police about three weeks ago. No trace was found of the offender at that time.

When arraigned yesterday morning Hotaling plead guilty and was given a sentence of six months in the Albany penitentiary, which was suspended by Judge Huntington.

WEATHER ALL IMPORTANT

Extremes of Temperature in Either Direction Will Stop Ice Harvest—Satisfactory Progress Yesterday.

Despite the warm drizzle which fell nearly all day, satisfactory progress was made with the Oneonta Ice and Fuel company's ice harvest on Goodyear lake yesterday. The ice averaged nine inches in thickness and was of good quality.

The work of laying out and ploughing the field was started Tuesday, but was not completed until noon yesterday, because of the necessity of removing several inches of snow from the surface of the field. At noon a gang of 40 men was put to work and by nightfall they had cut and stored a considerable quantity of ice.

Today's operations will depend absolutely upon the weather. A decided cold snap will freeze the deep layer of slush and make the ice so rough that it will be necessary to lay out a new field, while the increase in temperature promised by the weather reports will likewise stop operations and compel a wait until the mercury drops again.

Betrothed to Ex-Kaiser?

Frau Von Rochow is reported betrothed to Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm. She is now his guest at Doorn, Holland, according to German newspapers. She is the wealthy widow of a colonel in the Danzig Hussars and first met the kaiser during military maneuvers.

MRS. GEORGE'S LITTLE DAUGHTER

A Very Delicate Child, Was Made Strong and Robust by Taking Vinol

Daughter of Mrs. L. W. George.

Aiken, S. C. — "My little daughter was thin, delicate and ailing. I was very much worried over her condition. I heard about Vinol and decided to try it, and I must say the results were simply marvelous. Her appetite improved, she gained in weight, her color came back in her cheeks, and all my friends comment on the change, as she is now one of the healthiest children in town. All mothers who have delicate, puny, ailing children should try Vinol." — Mrs. L. W. George, 1119 Newberry St., Aiken, S. C.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the tissue building and medicinal element of cods' livers, without oil, aided by the blood making, strength creating properties of tonic iron and beef peptone. $1.00 per bottle guaranteed.

SOUTH SIDE RESIDENT DIES

Jeremiah Hotchkiss Passes Away at Home of His Daughter, Mrs. Ryndes

Jeremiah Hotchkiss, a [illegible] resident of South Side, [illegible] home of his daughter [illegible] yesterday following [illegible] at 2:30 [illegible] two months with [illegible]. The funeral will be held [illegible] family homestead at Lew Beach [illegible] 30 p. m. Saturday.

[illegible] Hotchkiss was born 83 years ago in Lew Beach, Sullivan county, and was the son of Daniel and Jane (VanDusen) Hotchkiss. Nearly all of his life was spent in that locality where he was a prominent farmer. He was active in local politics in Hardenburg township and had held town offices continuously over a 40 year period. Upon the death, 9 years ago, of his wife, whom, as Louise Jane Barton he married in 1860, he went to live with a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Goodsir, at Pepacton. Two years ago he came to reside with his other daughter, Mrs. Ryndes, at whose home he died. The only surviving relatives are the two daughters mentioned.

Mr. Hotchkiss was well-known and much respected in the town in which he lived for so many years. He had been in ill health during nearly all of his residence here but had made many warm friends in the city and vicinity who will learn with regret of his death and who will extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved daughters.

WOMEN LIVE LONGER THAN MEN

So the Records of Oneonta City for the Past 11 Years Disclose.

P. J. Gallagher, agent for the New York Life Insurance company, has kept a record, for the past 11 years, of the vital statistics of the city as published from year to year in The Star, which affords some interesting comparative figures. During the past 11 years, 2,055 people have died in the city—a yearly average of 187. Of those dying during 1921, 11 of the 207 were children the ages of which were less than one year. The combined ages of the other 196 is 10,768 years, or an average age of 55 years. Of the females dying during the year 55 lived to be over 60 years, their average age being 75 years. Of the males but 54 lived to pass 60 years, and their average age was 71¾ years.

It is interesting to note that for the period of years named the women have lived to a greater age than the men, the difference being about the same as for the past year. It would be interesting to know if this is true the country over and the reasons for their greater longevity.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for the lovely basket of fruit sent me on New Year's day.

THE TIME TO TAKE PEPTO - MANGAN

When You Feel a Little "Off" It Will Bring You Back to Health

Some people never need any medicine at all. They are, as the saying goes, "strong as a bull." They are mighty lucky. Most people need a good tonic once in a while. They take cold, or through overwork or social activity do not get enough sleep, many eat improper food and thus hurt the digestion. It is mighty wise to take Gude's Pepto-Mangan with the meals for a few weeks and build up. One cannot have too much good health. Pepto-Mangan gives you plenty of red blood, and everybody knows that red blood means feeling good and looking good all the time. Sold by druggists in liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.

THE HORRORS OF INDIGESTION

Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives" The Famous Fruit Medicine

Indigestion, Weak Digestion or partial digestion of food, is one of the most serious of present-day complaints.

Those who suffer with Indigestion, almost invariably are troubled with Rheumatism, Sleeplessness and excessive Nervousness.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Indigestion because these tablets strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the flow of digestive juices and correct Constipation, which usually accompanies Indigestion.

READ LANE'S DIAGNOSIS

In his final report to the President, upon completing his work as secretary of the interior, Franklin K. Lane sketched with a sure hand out of the abundance of his experience the present Washington condition:

The call is for thinking, planning, engineering, statesmanship. For we are quickly passing out of the rough-and-ready period of our national life, in which we have dealt wholesale with men and things, into a period of more intensive development, in which we must seek to find the special qualities of the individual unit, whether that unit be an acre of desert, a barrel of oil, a mountain canyon, the flow of a river or the capacity of the humblest of men.

"To conquer and to master—the same old task is ours; but not in the same old way. We have discovered this land and made it ours, but this is not the end of our journey, for now we are to give thought, the deepest thought, to the ways in which it may be made to yield most abundantly to the things which a complex society with a most imperious curiosity demands.

Washington is a combination of political caucus, drawing-room and civil service bureaus. It contains statesmen who are politicians and politicians who are not statesmen. It is rich in brains and in character. It is honest beyond any commercial standard. It wishes to do everything that will promote the public good. But it is poorly organized for the task that belongs to it. Fewer men of larger capacity would do the task better.

Ability is not lacking, but it is pressed to the point of paralysis because of an infinitude of details and an unwillingness on the part of the great body of public servants to take responsibility. Everyone seems to be afraid of everyone. The self-protective sense is developed abnormally, the creative sense atrophies. Trust, confidence, enthusiasm—these simple virtues of all great business are the ones most lacking in government organization.

We have so many checks and brakes upon our work that our progress does not keep pace with the nation's requirements. We could save money for the government if we had more discretion as to how we should use that given us.

For the body of the civil servants there should be quicker promotion or discharge and a sure insurance when disability comes. For the higher administrative officers there should be salaries twice as high as those now given, and they should be made to feel that they are the ones responsible for the work of the department, the head being merely an adviser and a constructor of policies.

As matters are now devised there are too few in the government whose business it is to plan. Every man is held to detail, to the narrower view, which comes too often to be the department view or some sort of parochial view. We need for the day that is here and upon us men who have little to do but study the problems of the time and test their capacity at meeting them. In a word, we need more opportunity for planning, engineering, statesmanship above, and more fixed authority and responsibility below.

The employment methods of the government could be improved. Under the civil service law of 1883 a good system of competitive examinations and appointments on merit has been built up for the classes of positions covered by the law. But beyond certification by the civil service commission for appointment of those applicants who are proved by examination to be eligible, the merit system is not fully operative even in connection with the positions to which it applies. Haphazard practices in assignments of work and in promotions, over which no central authority has jurisdiction, have brought about inequalities which are discouraging to the workers. This condition and the relatively low salaries paid by the government cause a "turnover" in government forces that could not long be withstood by a private business.

The readjustment of government salaries in the District of Columbia has recently received the attention of the joint commission on reclassification of salaries, which was authorized by a provision in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation act approved March 1, 1919. The report of this commission is now in the hands of congress and its fate remains to be seen. The report represents many months of work and an effort to present data which will enable congress to understand conditions as they exist.

The present civil service law was enacted to correct the evils of the "spoils system" which had become intolerable. That the plan provided by the law, that of appointments through competitive examinations for certain positions, has been a vast improvement over the old patronage method is generally conceded; but the law failed to be a completely effective instrument by not providing for the application of the merit system to the more responsible and, therefore, the more remunerative positions.

The administrative offices, aside from the cabinet, which do not come within the scope of the civil service law, are postmasters at offices of the first, second and third classes, collectors of internal revenue, collectors of customs; registers, receivers, and surveyors general of the land office; assistant treasurers, surveyors, special examiners, appraisers and naval officers in the customs service; superintendents of mints, assayers in mints, supervising inspectors in the steamboat inspection service, commissioners of immigration and naturalization, assistant secretaries and heads of bureaus of the departments at Washington, etc.—about 15,000 positions in all.

Art Is No Recreation.

Art, properly so-called, is no recreation; it cannot be learned at spare moments nor pursued when we have nothing better to do. It is no handiwork for drawing room tables, no relief of the ennui of boudoirs; it must be understood and undertaken seriously, or not at all.—"Modern Painters," John Ruskin

Not an Ad for Hair Tonic

Miss Vera Simpson has hair 62 inches long. If she were standing it would fall just half an inch short of the ground. She never used any preparation to make her hair grow and she never has headaches. She's 18 and from San Antonio, Texas. This picture was taken at Palm Beach, Fla.

DR. JOHNS AT LAURENS.

Delivers Address on Arms Conference Before Adult Bible Class.

Laurens, Jan. 4.—Rev. B. M. Johns delivered his disarmament lecture before Paul's Adult Bible class, at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, and its invited guests. Several were present from Oneonta and Mt. Vision. The large audience greatly enjoyed one of the most interesting and instructive lectures ever given in the church.

Dr. Johns spoke without notes and in a conversational manner, giving his experiences while in Washington on the sabbath day preceding the funeral of the "Unknown Soldier" at Arlington Heights, of the funeral, and of the disarmament conference. He told also the implements of war from the early ages up to the present hour and the manner of warfare; also of the advancement made in inventions of war since the world wide war.

These present enjoyed a lecture long to be remembered. At the close light refreshments were served.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE
People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Dr. Adolf Lorenz looking at the state and city licenses which formally allows him to practice in New York. Issuance of the license to the noted Viennese surgeon was delayed some time.

WOMAN AN EXPLORER

Has an Exciting Time in South America.

Practical Farmer of California Is Sent to Peru by Capitalists to Investigate Concession Offered by the Government.

New York.—Mrs. Estelle Wills is a practical farmer of Oakdale, near Stockton, Cal. She does not pretend to be an irrigation expert, but she has driven and climbed over every dam in the Sierras.

When the farmers of her county wanted a report on a big New England irrigation and hydraulic power enterprise they sent Mrs. Wills east to find out all about it and tell them what they wanted to learn. She took 40 California turkeys with her to sell to the Boston Yankees.

Then some men with money who had investments in Peru began to look for someone to send down there. They were offered by the Peruvian government an enormous land concession on condition that they would colonize and cultivate it. They picked Mrs. Wills for that job.

She went to Peru several months ago and has just returned after seeing a whole lot more than Peru. She had raced over the Andean peaks in a little American car, finished her work in Peru and then had motored, ridden on steamboats, in trains and canoes and swam a little way in a journey all around the continent, and all alone.

Mrs. Wills told a reporter all about it at the Hotel Pennsylvania. She is a widow, young, with large, bright, sharp eyes. She looks as if she could make the old ladies perfectly comfortable at tea, teach the young ones some new steps, give all a luncheon they would simply coo over and then take the local pet college youth out on the tennis court and trim him to a fare-you-well.

One soon discovers that she knows a whole lot about other things than farming, but she does not look it. She smiles too easily for a lady pundit. Maybe that's why she gets so much information.

Some Job.

C. H. F. sends us the following extract from a college professor's letter of recommendation: "Miss D. has had complete charge of one of our laboratory sections, embracing 30 students twice each week."—Boston Transcript.

GOTHIC ARMOR BRINGS $9,000

Sale of Historic Relic Realizes Large Sum From Antiquarians.

There were big prices at the sale of the selected pieces of arms and armor from three well-known amateurs which took place at the American art galleries in New York. The returns of the day's sales were $45,927 making, with the returns for the smaller pieces sold the preceding day, a total of $58,822 for the 318 numbers.

There were only two buying names for the numbers bringing four figures, Miss R. H. Lorenz, agent, and P. W. French & Co. To the latter went the last number in the catalogue, 318, which brought the highest price, $9,000.

This was a Spanish Gothic harness, 1475-1490, extraordinarily complete in authentic parts for its early period. To Miss Lorenz went No. 316, bringing the second highest price, $8,100. This was another Gothic harness, comprehensively north Italian, about 1490. It bore the marks of the famous Milanese armorer, Antonio di Missaglia.

Conscienceless Grave Diggers.

A dead man in Burma always pays his fare across the mystic river of death with a small coin which he carries in his mouth. The curse that rests on grave-diggers as a class probably comes from the fact that most of the men of this trade have no scruples about digging the poor wretches up for their coins. It is believed that this causes the spirits of the disturbed ones to return to this world to suffer all the ills that the Burman imagination can conjure up for them.

Told of John Burroughs.

John Burroughs, the naturalist, was not interested in nature's larger aspects. Geysers and volcanoes bored him. His one exception was the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, which he called "the Divine Abyss." Despite his intentness on study when a boy, Burroughs was fond of girls and kept a systematic record of his engagements with them—writers on his life say.

Explaining the Word "Bogus."

Bogus is thought to be a corruption of the French bagasse, Latin bagasea, and was applied in French America to the refuse of the sugar-cane. Another derivation is from Borghese, an Italian who flooded the southwestern states with counterfeit money. Bogus is also the name of a drink made from rum and molasses.

Traffic Cop Amazes Anne

Of all the sights he saw on his recent visit to London the amir of Katsina declared the crossing policeman to be the most wonderful. To be able to stop all the traffic of a street with the lifting of one hand amazed him, and he thinks, he told an inquirer, that the policeman must have four eyes.

KORTRIGHT WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Ferdinand Mackey Passes Away at Home of Daughter at North Kortright.

Davenport, Jan. 4.—Ellen Henderson, widow of the late Ferdinand Mackey of Cooperstown died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Harper of North Kortright, at 8 o'clock this evening. The funeral will be held from the home on Friday at 10:30 a. m., the Rev. C. R. Irwin, her former pastor, officiating. Interment will be made at Cooperstown by the side of her husband.

Mrs. Mackey was born in the town of Meredith 83 years ago and was the daughter of Robert and Eliza (Grant) Henderson. Her husband died at Cooperstown 21 years ago. For the past 12 years Mrs. Mackey had resided with the daughter at whose home she died. She is survived by the daughter mentioned, by one son, Robert H. Mackey of Jefferson, and by a brother James Henderson of Davenport Center.

Mrs. Mackey was a member of the North Kortright United Presbyterian church and was a Christian woman possessing many admirable traits of character. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

Undergoes Operation.

Mrs. Leo R. Olmstead was operated on for appendicitis at her home on South Hill near this village today, Drs. Brinkman and Latcher of Oneonta and Craig of Davenport being the surgeons. Mrs. Olmstead was resting comfortably this evening and doubtless, under the capable care of Miss Minna Butts of this village will make a quick recovery.

SIDNEY CENTER NEWS.

Miss Eloise Roney Married: Maywood Lodge Elects Officers.

Sidney Center, Jan. 4.—Miss Eloise Roney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roney, of this village, and Lynn Manzer of Binghamton were married Friday, Dec. 23, at Rochester by Rev. Charles Bartholomew, an uncle of the groom. The newly wedded couple returned last week to this village where they visited her parents for a few days, leaving on Thursday for their home in Binghamton. Both young people are popular in this place, Mr. Manzer having lived here until recently. Their many Sidney Center friends extend best wishes for their future happiness.

ACCIDENT ON D. & N.

One Passenger Slightly Injured When Coach Is Overturned.

Delhi, Jan. 4.—As a D. & N. passenger train was leaving Andes village Monday morning and while yet in the railroad yard, the rear trucks of the passenger car left the ice-covered track. As the train proceeded, this truck took the track leading to the turn table, while the car following a combination car, stayed on the main track. This resulted in upsetting the passenger coach, which carried a number of passengers, mostly young ladies, teachers and students, who were returning after the holidays. One man from Arkville was slightly injured but no other persons were hurt.

Fire on Scotch Mountain.

A small building on the former Wilbara J. Thompson farm on Scotch Mountain, which place is now owned and occupied by Fred Chase, was discovered on fire about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. The alarm was given by telephone and neighbors hurried to the scene, but it was too late to save the building. The barn, located close by, was saved. The fire is thought to have started in some way from the stove in the building, which has been in use for heating water for butchering Saturday afternoon. Mr. Chase's loss included one pig, butchered and dressed, one live pig, and some farm machinery in addition to the building.

Delhi Swamps Stamford.

The basketball game between the Emeralds, Delhi's town team, and the town team of Stamford, played on the opera house court here Tuesday evening, would have been more interesting if it had not been such an easy victory for the Emeralds, who rolled up the big score of 58, while Stamford's score at the close of the uneven contest was only 15. With more practice the Stamford boys will doubtless prove winners.

Mrs. Bailey Critically Ill.

Mrs. O. Bailey has been critically ill of pneumonia the past few days at her home. Mr. Bailey, too, was threatened with pneumonia but in his case the disease was broken up. He is still confined to the house.
